What has the Youth Development Worker done in 2023?

Networks	Events and Learning	Accompaniment	Resources	YDW skills development
This is about connecting people, gathering and growing communities of support and interest, putting them in touch with each other, communicating with them and enabling them to contribute to the aspirations described in our Faith in the Future.	This is about providing opportunities to develop and deepen Quaker knowledge, understanding and skills to build capacity. This could be "foundational" or about "extending" or "flourishing".	This is about walking alongside Quakers, worshiping together, encouraging and (gently) questioning as well as providing guidance.	This is about offering information, tools, or materials to support accompaniment, learning, or networking, or enabling Quakers to act themselves.	Time spent developing the YDW's skill and training level.
Yorkshire Friends Holiday School	Junior Holidays	Leeds teenage meeting	PREVENT work	Team Gather
Jo and the LDW's Cake and Cuppa	Link Group	York teenage meeting	Shindig Safeguarding Contextualization works	Interfaith youth workers network
Racial Justice network	Easter Settlement Big Questions? QiY family day Quakers in Yorkshire Sheffield Yearly meeting Young Adults Peer mentoring at Ackworth Living our Beliefs training for Quaker schools Quaker Business Method Training Bootham Ready for a Shreddy Menwith Hill Independence from America protest Sheffield Scouts Quaker Scavenger Hunt Leeds Pride Teen Meeting Bradford Boardgame socials Acomb teen meeting and Trampolining World dinner	Easter Settlement QiY arrangements committee Adel children's and all age inclusion Remember to breathe exam stress zooms Under 19's Committee Ackworth leadership Sheffield CYPWC Pickering and Hull confident and Prepared training Craven and Keighley safeguarding group	Sheffield Family Holiday Barmoor Safeguarding contextualization training Barmoor Escape Room – Harrogate families Supercharger – youthwork volunteers training Easter Settlement consultation Online bookings forms for Easter Settlement, QiY and Junior Holidays	Louisa Christian learning group Race equity training Safeguarding training Eldering lunch with David H Appreciative enquiry training Coaching Apprenticeship

Quaker Youth Development Work – Theory of change map

Impact: Young people aged 11-18 are welcome, integrated and can participate Arrows highlight particularly strong links within a loving, all-age Quaker community on equal terms. Outputs: Outcomes: Outcomes: Outcomes: We can offer... So that in the short-term... So that in the medium-term... So that in the long-term... Values: Encourage innovation Be sustainable Be community-led and Be collaborative and experimentation Young people community-focused Young people Young people better understand are more able to are more aware of the potential of Regular youth sessions live out their values Quakerism their relationship with in the world Quakerism [1] Young people have [7] Young people [2] Support for Young people have access to worship and identify more shared concerns and their own relationship community with peers strongly with and in the wider all-age with Quakerism representing young Quaker values community [A] people [6] Young people feel [4] Young people are More Young people more accepted and One-off events and more able to attend experience Quaker able to be themselves and residentials Quaker events worship and/or values share their gifts [3] [5] Young people [12] Signposting Young people have feel better Young people young people to more of a sense of supported through feel that they belong in national opportunities ownership of activities their growth and Quaker spaces and contributing to affecting them development [B] More meaningful, resources THIT Young people are Young people are diverse interactions Individual support to more able to discuss better listened to and between young people and manage difference feel more valued and wider Quaker young people [10] [9] community Young people Young people make Quakers know [16] can influence new connections with more about how Volunteer training other Young people and their worshipping to work with feel more bonded as a and support community on young people community equal terms Quaker [15] Quakers are more [18] Stronger [C] communities feel aware of young relationships more confident and Outreach people, their needs and between young people supported to engage with experiences and adults young people [13]

[14]

Complement other work

Enable Quaker

communities to reach

beyond those active

0851.CYP.05210

[17]

Commitment to equality

and diversity

What will the YDW do in 2024?

I am part of the Quaker Life team, under the management of the Quaker Life, Youth Development Team Leader. There is some nuance, but broadly speaking, the 7 area meetings bear the costs associated with the things I deliver and BYM funds my management and oversight. My current role funding expires in the summer of 2025. So, in real terms I am well into the second half of my current tenure. The structuring of my role allows a local focus supported from experienced, resourced, and professional foundation. Oftentimes regional youthwork can feel lonely and isolated, this role avoids this through its structuring within BYM.

The first year of my tenure was broadly seeking and gathering and supporting, young Quakers and the events that gathered them. This year was marked with heavy support for Junior Holidays, the formation of Link Group and getting to grips with how teenagers engage with Quakerism.

As you can see from the above table the second year of my tenure expanded to focus on accompaniment and resources, as well as direct delivery of work to young people. In 2023 I worked with the adults' local meetings, area meetings, Quakers in Yorkshire and Easter Settlement to help them engage children, young people and families for themselves better. Helping Easter Settlement understand its vision for children and young people, Confident and Prepared Training in Pickering and Hull and various volunteer trainings and facilitations felt like the central works the year, as well as continuing to grow my relationship and engagement with the youth cohort. Link Group and Junior Holidays continue to draw much effort & labor. These events, which equal 5 weekends of youthwork delivery per year, continue to thrive and make up the backbone of my work.

This coming year hopes to build on the first and second years of my labour by

- Continuing to support Junior Holidays thrive and grow the front door
- Continuing to drive Link Group the glue
- Support the Trustees and U19's Coordinating group to reinforce and bolster the various all age offerings in Yorkshire into a cohesive and obvious lattice of provision the skeleton
- Continuing to train and support local meetings and volunteers, exploring offering two standardized training offers confident and prepared and super-charger volunteer training (delivered in person on request and online) the future
- Focus on Quaker affiliated people on the periphery of local meetings, who feel a connection to the Quaker way but don't necessarily jive with the Sunday morning expression of Quakerism, with my colleague Craig Barnett revival?
- Being open to approach from local or area meetings with challenges/opportunities in expanding their community to children and young people the as yet unknown!